WHEN Doorsess remarked that "comparisons are odrous"-act "o lous"-h is not absolutely clear whether he meant that they were objectionable or the reverse; That section of the public which habitually misquotes its unread Bard assumes somehow that companious are always bad form, which is, of course, nonsense. Pharisnic comparisons are offensive, perhaps; but al can admire the philosophic Causon on his island, avoiding the mistake of grambling at his apparent misfortunes by comparing with them his actual compensations. Some such compar son is suggested by our news from Shanghai. Shanghailanders in Hongkong often institute comparisons. The Hougkong coolie class is more insolent and rude, they say, than theirs at Shanghai; we have no ticket system of paying ricsha hire; we are less well provided in the matter of social amusements; and we have no elections worth speaking of. And so forth, and so on. The first item of the comparison is European pedestrians on our sidewalks, especially ladies, find progress less confortable than they would at Shanghai. Thanks to a paternal Government's pampering in . the past, so it is said, the pigtailed Jack is as good as his master, and thinks himself better. Indeed, he has no master, as in the northern port, where the too intrusive juxta. position of his odirous presence is resented by a cuff or a blow. On the other hand, if a said that though the native lower orders of Shanghai may be more servile and outwardly respectful, the Hongkong servant

class, though insolent in demeanour, is at heart better behaved and more law-abiding. As a British subject, and equal under the flag, our Chinese " man in the street " may be averse to giving, any man the wall, but at the worst he does not throw stones at us. or burn our public offices, or shoot ou policemen. Just at present Hougkong residents who have heard of Shanghai's Presidency. immunity from some of our minor worries may find consolation in the comparison, and congratulate themselves on the absence of graver troubles. For, indeed, our neighbour's troubles are sufficiently grave Canton may be too hospitable and friendly to our debtors occasionally, and it would be better if it sent us fewer contagious patients, but so far as the anti-foreign and criminologist aspects are concerned, we have little to complain of. The native city and hinterland of Shanghai is far worse It barbours criminals and haters of foreigners, and pours them into the Settlement. The British Consul-General, Sir PELHAM WARREN, has just reminded the Chinese authorities of their responsibility, and warned them that they are directly encouraging serious crime by their conduct The complaint is not unresonable. It has been patent enough in the past, and it seems it is still going on. It looks very much as if there is some kind n foolish native hope of making the foreigner's position untenable. The trouble is not lessened by the facility with which the desperadoes of the environs are arme with modern weapons of precision. The Municipal Council has lately proposed to take steps to restrict the sale of these, but if, as one contemporary says, this will need a unanimity between the foreign and native authorities," we cannot expect any important result from their activity. A present Shanghai seems in one respect to resemble some of Bret Harte's camps; a revolver seems to be as fashionable or inevitable as a necktie. The Municipal Council cannot, it is quite clear, rely on native co-operation; it may disarm a few rowdy white men; but it will find it a hard task to prevent arms reading the Chinese who want them. The murder of Constable Morrow comes as another timely reminder of the importance of a firmer grip on the Mixed Court. The leniency of the Native City nuthorities towards criminals sent from the Settlement is a striking contrast to their methods with offenders outside the Settlement. The unanimity that should surely be first striven for is among the Europeans themselves, between the City Fathers and the officials representing the Powers. We have previously noted its absence; an our telegraphic references to the outburs of the Winston Churchill of the Britis Consulate there show that they are still failing to pull together as their common and d're necessities require.

. The obstruction and annoyance caused by chair coolies in the vicinity of the City Hall when entertainments are given there have been the cause of frequent complaints. On Thursday 7th inst, the night of the last Mesonic Ball, the nuisance was greater than ever. Not only was the way obstructed by the chairs but the coalies were unusually persistent in their rolicitations. The sequel was told at the Magistracy yesterday, when sixteen chair bearers. were brought before Mr. C. D. Molbourne and fined $1 cach. A number of ricsha coolies were also fined for a like off-nce.

We have received from the Rev. Geo. J. Blatter, of Chicago, a reproduction of his photograph and a typewritten account facetiously written, of how he was one of the first to break the new French law relating to church services. He tells how the police came to the wharf to catch him, and of how "a gentleman, wrapped in a Spanish cloak," (himself) leisurely walked the deckand watched confession is true in every particular; such member of the Logislative Council of Hong. looks "upon the new church laws is absurd and state, much less in a republic."

A message to the Manila Callenews dated Baguio, Benguet, March Sch, says :-Clarke's mine is turning out considerable gold these days. Yesterday J. R. Rood left here for Dagupan carrying with him a bar of 22 ounces of the precious metal, valued at $550 United States currency. This is the gold turned out during the last week and represents but a pa tion of the pessible output of the mine, as up to the pres nt no attempt has been made to make use of the cyanide process by which a large amount of the metal, which is now found intermixed with other metals and which cannot be saved in the washing, could besaved. None of the mines are producing anything but free gold as yet.

question which the Dean of Carlisle has been denial which is, as a rule, called for by their offering themselves for service in the foreign mission field, common justice would suggest that special regard should be made to thom. To suggest that a man volunteers for the work on understanding that it is for life is no argument; in fact, considering how very hard the life is ten years of it ought to be as much as can be justly expected of any man." Whether [Jupin Chronicle] do not know, but the "hardship" to which our London e ntamporary refers does not exist among all missionaries. The writer in the Pall Mall should come to Japan, visit some of the missionaries here, and then write about "how very hard the life is!"

Lord Goschen some years ago sent a letter to the Scotsman which was not to be published until his death, in which he corrects a statement that his ambition was to become Speaker of the House of Commons, and that he had actually sat in the Speaker's Chair in order to test the strength of his eyes. The letter appeared last month. Lord Goschen confesses that he did temporarily succumb to Mr. Gladstone's offer of the Speakership, each to his other children, and subject thereto after having already refused the Viceroyalty

The general tone of the American Press concorning the appointment of Mr. James Bryes as English Ambassador to Washington is complimentary. For one thing he is a man known to all Americans by resson of his book "The American Commonwealth," which is considered by them a model of truth and fairness and is used as a text book in the Universities there. In. "Seciety" alone is there any inclination to quarrel with him. What lastre will a plain "bfr." add? "Ambassador" is a difficult word to use as a title, and still more is "Ambassadress!"

AN INTERESTING CHINESE WEDDING.

The relationship between the families of His Excellency Wu Ting Fang and the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai was (48 we briefly announced yesterday) cemented by another sliance which took place on Thursday, when Mr. Wu Chao Chu, only son of the distinguished Chinese statesman was married to the eldest daughter of the the pelicemen. We have no doubt that the gentleman who is the senior unofficial gentlemen often do wear cloaks; but we have no kong. The wedding was more elaborate than space for his auto-admiration. He says he the usual Chinese wedding, and though several changes were introduced the operation lost idiotic, not possible of execution in a civilized nothing of the picturaque effect which distinguishes such an event among the Chinese. The bridal chair was an innovation, being similar to the official chair used in Peking, and as the distance from the residence of His Excellency at Seymour Terrace to the Hon. Dr. Ho Kai's house in Lower Castle Road was so short, the bridel procession took a lengthened route through part of the city. The bride arrived at 5,30 on Thursday, and after her reception, the gentlemen friends were entertained at the Hung Fan Lau restaurant in Queen's Road. The guests, who were numerous included Mr. Li Chee, representing H.E. Viceroy Chou Fu, and other officials from Canton The celebrations were continued yesterday, when there was a social gathering at which His Excellency addressed the young couple, exhorting them on the duties of the new lives on which they had ontered. This was another innovation, which certainly did not detract from the importance of the occasion.

> PROGRESS IN SCIENCE AND RELIGION.

Sir Alexander Simmon delivered an exceedingly interesting locture on this subject at the Y.M.C A. yesterday afternoon.

The Hop. Mr. F. H. May presided, and SIR ALEXANDER said be was not an expert in sojence or religion, but as far as science was concerned be claimed an acquaintance with it such as belonged to a member of the medical profession. Man, the speaker said, was a ling desperadoes committed thither curious animal from childhood, and was stage above the creatures below, in asmuch as he had the wonderful power of searching into things and tracing their constitution and history. ... It it was who discovered the wonderful trinily of the universe-ether, matter and energy. This Valso "Caressante," Lambert latter power, as displayed in the mind of man, showed where the invisible became visible and the intangible tangible. The lecturer dealt with transformations in the world, with transilions from inorganic to organic, and told how the greater progress of science in later days was due to the fact that the human mind was no longer under the domination of priests. Geologists heldthat the world had been in existence for more than 6,000 years, but we could think back to a time when it was nothing but ether. Then, by and bye life appeared on the scene, and as the process of evolution went on, various forms of life. SUMMARY OR ORIGINAL?

In the case in which Mr. P. W. Goldring served five separate writs for Messrs. Cruz and Co. on R. H. | Mahomed to recover $2,500 his Lordship did not uphold the point by Mr. F. P. Hett that one action should have been brought in original jurisdiction. He was or opinion athat Mr. Goldring was perfectly justified in bringing the actions separately. and intimated that he would hear them on Monday. .

IN A HUBRY TO PROCEED. The action was called in which F. Blunck sued Long Hing and Co. to recover $57%. Mr. Otto Kong Sing appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. P. W. Goldring (of Messrs. Goldring and Barlow) for the defendant.

Mr. Goldring applied for an adjournment, but Mr. Kong Sing mentioned that a bankruptcy petition had been presented against the defendant firm, and he was therefore anxious to get judgment.

Mr. Goldring- There is a petition presented against them, but I have instructions to oppose

His Lordship-That doesn't say you wil be successful. I will adjourn the case until Wednesday, the day before the Bankruptcy Court sits.

SERVING A WRIT. The Tsoi Ting On Tong sued Lu Fat to recover $62.40 for goods sold and delivered. Defendant answered, to his name and promptly explained to his Lordship that he had a writ to serve on the manager of the plaintiff firm, one Tsoi Chap, but was unsuccessful in his search for that person.

When the plaintiff's manager entered the witness box his Lordship asked his name and he replied Tsoi Chan, but afterwards said it was Tsoi Cheng. The defendant, however, recognised him as the man he wanted to reach, and the writ was served there and then, his Lordship remarking that he could be served in any name he wanted.

Tseung Ut proceeded against the San Shing Lee to recover $20.28 due on account of lime.

Plaintiff gave evidence as to the dates on which the lime was ordered, and showed th entries in his books.

Ma Li, the owner of the defendant shop denied receiving any lime. As she sold it herself she had large quantities in her store. She had two sons, but neither assisted her in the business, and the accountant she formerly had embezzled money and ran away.

CORRESPONDENCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS" AMERICA AND IMMIGRANTS.

Chicago, Feb. 5th. On several occasions latterly the Federal law of the United States has come into conflict with state law, and much confusion and misunderstanding has resulted. The last instance is that of the Carolinas. As is well known the stream of immigration to America is tremendous and ever increasing. the million a year mark being almost reached. These people come from all parts of Europe attracted either by the promises of emigration agents, vague rumours of freedom and wealth in the golden land beyond the sea, or by the desire to join and emulate friends and relations.

On account of established shipping facilities A final dividend to shareholders of this multitude awarm to practically the same destination; the resultant effect is that yearly the slums of the great cities become more and more congested and the poverty more t-rrible and oppressive. While this is so in the East the Southern States are crying aloud for labourers to till their fields and for mill operatives to work the twenty per cent of spindles that now . stand constantly ille. Above a'', they argently $2,082,490.31 as per annexed statement. need white settlers in order that the enormous proportion of black over white may be reduced. But the immigration laws of the United States are strict. People must not be "induced" to come, nor must their passages be paid by intending employers, nor may they be ongaged abroad, for this might result in pushing good Americans out of employment and On this ground citizens of North Carolina have just been indicted on the charge intention of putting them to work in certain plants in the interests of specified manufacturers The employees in question have been deported Seeing this, South Carolina has waited judgment on her acts with considerable anxiety, and now breathes freely for the first time for many weeks as the Secretary of Commerce and Labour has decided that States, when acting for themselves, are not bound by the Labour Law.

Naturally the labour bodies are furious, for they see in this decision the certainty of an increase in competition. But few outside the ranks of union labour; or perhaps those negroes who look ahead, can find honest causes for complaint in the manner in which Carolina has tackled her trouble and set about adding to her population.

Her first step was to create a State Department of Immigration, and obtain a small grant through her Legislature. This, it is announced, is to be the nucleus of a fund for the furtherment and encouragement of suitable emigrants to her State. Contributions for the sam e purpose His Lordship-Did you bring your books? will be accepted from the Cotton Manu-Have you got any books or did the accountant | facturers' Association or any other body, but only on the express stipulation that Why didn't you bring them?-I didn't no favouritism or special consideration be shown to the contributors. If you are going to | ledge of the climate resources of South Carolina ran a shop like this you'd better have one of especially among that most suitable class, the Belgian cotton operatives, also to induce the Defendant-Shall I bring the account books? | steamship companies to start a direct line of shipping to Carolina ports. It has succeeded beyond expectation, and already more than one shiplead of emigrants has been turned South, some to find steady employment in the cotton fields and mills, others to take up land and make homes for themselves.

No move has been concealed from the Immigration Bureau and that body argues that while individuals would be offending against Federal Law, and liable to a heavy penalty if they endeavoured to do on a small scale what is now being done on a large one, States may freely move to further their own interests.

Southerners aver that the first step towards a true development of the South has now been taken, and they foresee an eraof prosperity when an ever-increasing stream of "imported citizens" of Saxon origin shall teach the negro his duties and responsibilities as a man, and the need for a continuous s-rvice in place of his hitherto desultory method of gaining a livelihood, Optimists count on a time when white and black will be in equal proportion and the sinister race problem shall be a thing of the past. Pessimis's predict the downfall of Labour already too weak to command perpetual and unfailing justice, and an inrush of "undesirable aliens" to make a bat situation Yours truly.

MRS. THAW'S EVIDENCE.

After wading through countless columns of preliminary verbiage in the American papersa task which some readers will be able to shudder at—we have at last found in a batch received yesterday some of the real evidence as given in the New York murder case. The following is a condensed collation of the estimony of the millionaire murderer's wife.

Mrs Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, simply dressed, and unanimously described as looking benutiful, said she was born December 25th, 1884. She dined at the Café Martin on June 25th 1906. with her husband, She saw Stanford White, the murdered architect, as he entered the café, and passed a pencilled note to her hasband. They went then to the Madison Roof Garden. White appeared there also. She asked her husband to take her away. As they were going out, she heard the noise of shots. She said to a friend who was with them: "I think he has shot him," Her husband came and kissed her, remarking "I have probably saved your life," She was married to Thaw on April 4th 1905, He proposed to her in Paris in June 1903. She refused him at first, on account of her previous relations with White.

"Mr. Thaw told me that he loved me and wanted to marry me. I stared at him for a mom nt and then he said; "Don't you care for me?" and I said that I did. He asked me what was the matter. I said: "Nothing." "Why won't you marry me?" he said. He put his hands on my shoulder and asked: "Is it because of Stanford White?" and I said, "Yes." Then he told me he would never love any one else. I started to ory. He said he wanted me to tell him the whole thing. Then I began to tell him how I first met Stanford White."

When sixteen years old, in August 1901, she as taken out by a lady friend to lunch with ner mother's permission. The lunch was in White's studio. She were a short dress, with her hair down her back. She told her, mother, and subsequently White wrote to her mother, asking her to call on him. She called, and White asked her to go to a dentist and have her and her daughter's teeth "fixed," and he would pay. Her mother refused, remarking that it was a strange offer. Finally she (witness) went to other parties given by White. He told her mother he would look after her. He gave her a glass of champagne, which tasted bitter. When she awoke she began to scream and cry.

"He made me swear that I would never tell my mother about it. He said there was no use: talking, and the greatest thing in the world was not to get found out. He said the girls in the theatre were foolish to talk. He laughed.

She told all this to Mr. Thaw when he asked her to marry him. He was excited and ongry, but said it was not her fault. and that he did not think any the of her. He still wished to marry her. She reminded him of what his friends would Witness here explained that her mother let her go to the studio as an artist', model. There was a photographer with White, She also posed for a Mr. Carroll Beckwith, and other artists. She told Mr. Thaw all this. She earned from $16 to $18 a week as a model. Shelater went on the stage as a dancer. After her affair with White she had to undergo an opera-23,147.50 tion white knew this also. He said White 202.857.25 Market Blackguard. A friend of White's afterwards told her things about Mr. Thaw which made her disinclined to marry him. When Thaw learned this, the was still angrier with White. He said the stories were inventions, kissed her hand, and called her this little angel." Finding that the stories were not true, she married him. She showed him letters and telegrams that were coming to her from White. He took them and wrote to a lawyor, about the "blackguards who are blackmailing her." Part of a letter from Thaw to the lawyer read as follows: "Remember, that if I die my property is to go to my wife, but in the event of her death must not go to ber relatives. Her wretched mother must not receive anything. I would provide for her brother, however. Poer girl, if I die abe may not live to be 21." Next day, Mrs. Thaw told of a proposel prior to Mr. Thaw's, made by a Mr. Barrymore When she told Stanford White of "Jack Barrymore having invited her to a party he became very angry and said he would send her away to a school in New Jersey.

Mrs. Thaw detailed her relations with Barry. more and her being sent to school. She said: It all came about through a quarrel between Mr. White, my mother and myself over Mr. Barrymore. One afternoon on Madison Square Garden Mr. Barrymore said to me: "Evelyn will you marry ma?" I answered him and said "I don't know." White saked me if I would marry Barrymore, and said: "If kids like you get married, what would you have to live on Every day after that when I would meet my mother she would ask me if I intended "t marry that little pup Barrymore," saying Mr. White was afraid I would, M White then came to see me and said would be very foolish to marry Mr. B rrymore we would have nothing to live on, would probabl quarrel and get a divorce. He also said Mr. Barrymore was a little bit crazy, that his father was in an anylum, and he thought the whole family was tonched. He was certain Mr. Barry more would be crazy in a few years, and for that reason said I ought not to marry him Mr. Barrymore neked me a second time if 300,000,00 would marry him, and again I said: "I don' know," and he laughed. The upshot of the whole matter was that Mr. White came and said that I ought to be sent to school and I was.

White poid for her schooling. The principal points of Mrr. Thaw's testimony on the second day are thus sommarised :-Stanford White had pursued her and hounded her even after her marriage. White, on pretense of telling her about her family, entired her to a hotel, where he attempted to kiss her. He begged her to come with him when he was she was "not a human being." She replied; "; want nothing more to do with you. She revealed a blackmailing plot against Harry Thaw; aided by "Abe" Hummell, the notorious lawyer, White tried to force or persuade her before her marriage to sue Harry Thaw for breach of premise. She refused and said, "I love Harry Thaw," alone and o ied when she refused. He declared

CHINESE MINISTER ON BRITISH AND CHINESE RELATIONS.

At the dinner on 9th February of the Students Union cornected with the London School of Economics and Political Science at which Mr. Haldane, Secretary for War delivered an interesting speech, H.E. Wong Tab tieh made the following remarks, his speech being read in nglish by Mr. U. Y. Hau; Kipling, his Excellency remarked, had said : " East is East and West is West.

And never the twain shall meet, but if he were at this dinner he would revise the statement. Ho (the Chinese Minister) believed that Orientals and Occidentals could meet not only in diplomacy and commerce but also for intellectual and social intercourse. The relations between Britain and China had always been cordial, and would undoubtedly become closer day by day. (Cheers.) When he first came to Englind, three years ago, there were very few Chinese students here, but now there were more than a bundred, of whom ten belonged to the University of London. That was a very significant fact. As oxygen and hydrogen formed water so Eastern civilisation and Western civilisation, if united in due proportions, would produce a new intellectual compound beneficial to all mankind. (Cheeri.) China invented printing, gunpowder, and the mariner's compass. The West improved them and gradually built up modern science. It was again the turn of the East, which was learning modern science in order to evolve the science of the future. The poet had said that East and West would mix their dim lights till they broadened into boundless day, and hi Excellency believed that the universities and colleges of Great Britain would play an important part in the realisation of the poet's dream. (Cheers.)

JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES

REMARKABLE SITUATION.

A despatch from Washington dated February 10th says: For nearly an hour and a hal vesterday the President discussed with Mayor Schmitz and the members of the San Francisco Board of Education the Japanese School question After Mr. Roosevelt had presented the reasons why it was imperative for the preservation of good relations for the Board to withdraw its order against the admission of Japanese children to white schools. Mr. Schmitz and his collesgues pave their reasons why segregation was necessary. The Conference then adjourned, to be resumed to-me rrow. The President, to his surprise, found the School Board determined not to yield unless assured of an ample equivalent. The members anything the President asked, since then of the Board say that they will not be satisfied with indefinite promises, but must know precisely what Japan will give if conceded the yielded to the President. right to send children to white schools.

Again yesterday, as he did last week, the President referred to the danger of wounding the pride of a sensitive and high-strung nation. He said that the irritation on the part of Japan appeared to be increasing rather than diminishing. The member of the Board of Education and yet in whose hands, perhaps, lies the listened attentively, but did not display any pro. | goodwill of two great nation found emotion. The fact is that selfish politics exercise a more dominating influence than patriotic considerations. Mr-Schmitz controls the Board of Education with the ambition of succeeding Mr. Perkins. which explains why only a few hours after the President had vehomently denied that he ever spoke of war. Mr. Perkins made public the speech in which he declared that war was to be apprehended.

Still another complication is the resentment of the Californian members of 'ongress against the President for having thrown them into a panic last week by telling them that there was a danger of war and then denying his statements. Immediately following last week's Conference . the Cali ornian Congressmen, who were so badly frightened, were willing to do almost they have plucked up courage, and they are now angry that they should have so easily

SAD STORY OF A VAUXHALL BRIDGE

It was under the railway bridge at Vauxball The evening was damp and foggy and very cold. The mud lay four inches deep in the roadway, and he stood in the mud and wept. If we are to believe the post Blanke when he assures us that.

A robin-redbrest, in a cage, Puts all heaven in a rage, what kind of a commotion ought we to expect over a child crying its heart out in the gutter? "Whatever is the matter, my little man? I

Holy Communion (12 noon). Kyrie, Smart in F For a man faced with bankruptcy there is Hymns, 96 and 108. Evensong (5.15 pm) Realways a break in the clouds. He can see the sponsos, Ferial; Isalus, of the 17th evening (II.); day when, his discharged granted, he shall begin life anew with a substantial capital. A child, however-but this has all been said before. His 'apenny! His ounce of allsorts! His sherbet squib! His lump of hokeypokey! His potential command of happiness! His latchkey to Paradise! The knife which made the world his oyster! His 'aponny! Lost! In four inches of mud! Oh, the tragedy, the pathes of it! The gas lump only served to show futility of search and warranted free from anything ordinary man could remain unmoved. They welcome. Books, etc., provided. are so tragic, these sorrows of childhood. They arise from causes so pitiably small when cont'rasted with the devastation worked by them. His apenny! And its loss could blot the sun out of the sky for him. (This trope were better had it not been pitch-dark. But it is too original to lose)

The sorrows of childhood are tragic and overwhelming, but they are easily dissipated. It is one of the purest joys within the competence of mankind to dissipate them.

"Cheer up, my little man," said I. "What have we here?" As I spoke I drew out two pennies This was simpler and better in every way than grovelling in four juches of mud. His eyes grew larger, and he held out a plump hand. The tears were wet on his cheeks, but he was already smiling. The universe and be were again on the best of terms together. I have never got so much pure satisfaction from the expenditure of twopence.

I passed on, glowing with pleasure, paid my cell, and brought a lump into the throat of my hostess with my description of this pathetic little incident. She sait I was "a dear" to do Meditation. it. I should have been disappointed had she not said this. I said anyone would have done as much. These childish sorrows, I said, though terribly tragic for the moment, can be banished very easily, and only a cad would have refused to do what I had done. I wished her to say that I was a doar again, but she asked mi, instead, if I thought it would turn to frost. As I came back under the xulway bridge the night was damp and foggy and very cold. The mud lay four inches deep in the roadway, and he stood in the mud and wept. "Please," he sobbed, "I've lost my 'apenny."

JOINT STOCK SHARES.

Messis. Vernon & Smyth say in their weekly share report dated Hongkong 15th March, 19.7; -A fair business has been transacted during the week, but rates have not ruled strong. The inclination to wankness reported in our last continues to be apparent in most stocks, the market being affected to some extent by the unsettled state of the European and American stock markets and the tightness of money at these centres. In the absence however of anxious sollers rates close fairly steady, an Lin some few cases even show an upward tendency. BANKS.-Hongkong and Slovightis lowe changed hands in small lots at $395 and $890. the market closing with an unsatisfied small demand at the latter rate. London has declined to £193 per latest Renter's and privite advices. Nationals continue a dead letter on the market, MARINE INSURANCES .- Unions have improved to $835 with buyers and no sales to report. It is announced that the Society will pay a dividend of $42 per share on account of the year ended 31st December, 1906. Cantons have changed bands at $295, closing with further sellers at that rate. China Traders are wanted at $90, but there are no shares on the market Yangsiz shave improved to $160 with buyers in the north. North Chinas have found further !

buyers at $80, closing steady at that rate. FIRE INSURANCES .- Both Hongkongs and Chinas have ruled neglected, the former with small sales and sellers at $3423 and the latter with sellers at $90.

SHIPPING. - Sales of Hongkong, Canton and Macaos have been made at $291, the market closing with sellers at $30. Indes continue neglected at the nominal rate of $83, Shanghai quoting Tls. 60 sellers. China Maniles have declined to $18 ex the dividend of $1 paid on the 13th instant. Douglases have declined to $35 without sales. Shells, after a fall to 40s. with small sales at that rate and later, at 41s. and 41/6, close in demand at 42/6 without bringing any shares on the market. Star Ferries remain without business.

REFINERIES.—China Sugars have further declined to $118, with small sales at that rate and at $120 for June, the market closing with cash sellers at $118. Luzons unchanged and sah sellers at $118. Luzous unchanged and vithout business.

MINING.—Raubs were in a small demund in Darlington for a copy of his Handwithout business.

the early part of the week at $8.15 to $84, but book." the rate failed to be maintained and at time of closing shares are obtainable at $81. Charbonages unchanged and without business. -Docks, Wharves and Godowns, -- Hongkong- and-Whampon Docks have further declined to $130 with small sales, closing with probable buyers at that rate. Kowloon Wharves continue dall at $93, and without any business to report. Shanghai Docks show a further drop to Tls, 105 with sellers, both locally and in Shanghai. Hongkew Wharves have ruled firmer in Sha ghai and sa'es have been made at from Tls. 231 to Tls. 234 ex new issue; the latest advices from Shanghai quote the market quiet, NORTH WALES. with nothing doing at $244 cum new issue. LANDS, HOTELS AND BUILDINGS. -Hongkong Lands continue steady to strong with DEVON AND small sales and further buyers at $107. Kowloon Lands are wanted at $37\frac{1}{2}. Humphreys CORNWALL have changed hands at $11.29 and $113, closing with sellers at the latter rate. West Points and Hotels continue neglected with sellers at quotations. Shanghai give Ewos at 74, Internationals at | Dolgelly, Harlech, Criccieth, Pwllheli, 68, and Laou Kung Mows at 105. Hongkongs | Llandudno Rhyl, Rettws-y-coed, Isle of have been placed locally at 12.

be in placed at $9, and more are wanted at the rate. Sales of Green Islands are reported at A Handbook to the leading Hotels throughout $19½ and $20, but at 'ime of closing there are the World. no sellers under the latter rate. Electrice bave been placed at $15.90, Ropes at $21 & $22, Steam Waterboats at $6, the last closing with buyers at a little better rate. Watsons have been sold at $12.15 and 12‡, closing stendy at the latter rate. Watkins, after small sales at $24, are enquired for at $3. China Light and Powers have declined to 394. This last named Company advertises an issue if $500,000 debentures at 90 (for $100) bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. and the issue of 50,000 new shares at $1 to the holders of the debentures, the new shares heing entitled to half of the net profits of the Company as dividend, and to half of the assets, in the event of the Company being wound up.

AN APPEAL.

THE SISTERS who direct St. Antonio's Convent at Macao will be very thankful to Shop-keepers, Linen-drapers, Clothiers and Tailors in Hongkong, Macao, and elsewhere who will send to them remnants of material, books of patterns no longer used, and any pieces of cloth, no matter how small, of which they can-not make use.

Those who send will thus, at no cost to themselves, afford the numerous hands in the very pretty pieces of work made out of cloth, No Claims will be admitted after the Goods that would otherwise be thrown away. These have left the Godowns, and all Goods remaining articles are bought by charitable persons and undelivered after the 18th just, will be subject the Sisters are thus beloed to keep up their very large establishment, which is maintained by All Claims against the Steamer must be the alms of friends and in a great measure by by no means an idle life within the convent

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO. CHICAGO, U. S. A.

THE RISE OF WOMAN.

For some time past the United States has led the way in the education of women, and the people who are familiar with it would like to see England move more quickly on the same lines, and build many more Girtons and Lady Mar garet Halls.

And besides being more highly educated, American women are also allowed far more freedom socially and independence from chaperones. Has not a leading hotel in New York ordained within the last fortnight that chaperones are unnecessary in its tea-rooms ? The natural result of this superior equipment and greater freedom of movement is that woman in America is beginning to invade provinces long considered the peculiar province of the intellect of the male sex.

The New York lady who has offices in Walltreat and tried to raise the tone of her surroundings has lately appeared before the footlights of publicity. The limelight has also turned upon a more ambitious lady than Mrs. Gaylord, a lady who, at the age of thirty one, is credited with having obtained one concession for an under-ground railway in London and another for a railway in the Straits Settlements, Mrs. Reader's path, indeed, is illuminated by the comewhat garish light of romance. At one time it is the Republic of San Domingo that claims her attention; at another the formation of the new Republic of Panama. At least, so

There are, however, several other American ladies who, unassisted by reports, have built up colossal fortunes or have added several stories

They "scorn delights and live laborious days," just as many of their humbler sisters do, but they also go further. Through their methods runs a certain thread of pitiless logic, interweven with another thread of the hold determination to act on that logic, both of which threads used to be considered ingredients only of the masculine brain.

In a small flat in New York lives an old lady who is accounted the richest woman in America. and perhaps the greatest financier in the world. Sometimes it is true she flits from the flat to a pleasant home in the country, but the flat is her usual residence. Tradition says that she lives there alone without even a maid-of-all-work and does all her own catering, but tradition sometimes lies. However that may be, from, this hermit-like seclusion Mrs. Hetty Green the old lady in question, regulates her vast property in stocks and bonds and real estate and what not. From this silent citadel shedirects her keen gaze over the habitable globe, and investe her millions in large corporations and enterprises of magnitude in many countries. And so her millions multiply, until at this present moment she could undoubted'y build a squadron of Dreadnoughts, or dig a large part of the Panama

Moving at the opposite pole of existence is lady with a great estate on the Pacific slope. No dealer in stocks and shares this lady, but a mighty owner of flocks and herde, with a battalion of cowboys at her beck and call. While her sister financier pores over figures in her circumscribed flat in a roaring street of New York, it is the more enviable lot of this gentle patriarch to start on horseback from her front door and ride a dozen miles in any direction without reaching the fence that bounds her

Nor is this captain of 300 cowboys, this queen a ranche as big as some counties, a solitary planet of unrivalled magnificence. She has a rival in a lady of Montans, who also takes her place among the great ones of this earth by reason of her monstroug berds of cattle which she forwards to Chicago in trains of appalling length. And she has this advantage over the other, this additional claim on our respectful admiration as one of the greatlady financiers of America, that she finds time in the middle of all her cattle-raising business to run copper mines and build towns for her miners. A women of infinite energy this, who in her earlier days had encounters of the Fenimere Cooper type with the Indians that would fill volumes.

Equally adventurous and equally gifted is a certain Mrs.——, who from her girlhood has shown a knack for discovering gold and silver mines. And, lavir g discovered them, she shows the true financier's instinct by following up her good beginning by running a railway to serve them through one of the wildest parts of California. In laying down this railway she was her own surveyor, riding dauntlessly through pathless solitudes.

Other instances there are of vast achievements by American wemen in the financial world, but these few examples have been given to show the result of America's more intelligent development of the mind of its womankind. - Evening Stondard.

AN INVITATION.

Come dine with me, and bring with you Your wit urbanely free, And I'll present a dish not rich Yet spiced with courtesy.

A jar of snave and mellow wine. To exalt, yet not confuse, And larger store of that great plant That m ves the graver muse.

And o'er the blithely temperate cup
And philosophic pipe
We'll talk of books that sway the years,
With wisdom that is ripe;

Nor shon the deft and dainty song And finely fashioned air, Nor jest that can illumine thought With revelation rare.

POPULAR TUNES OF HALF-A-

SONGS WHICH REACHED OUR HEARTS.

Which is the most popular song of the last fifty years?

CENTURY.

In the stalls at the Palace Theatre old men and young ere nightly asking each other this question while listening to the orchestral selection, "Melodious Memories," in which sixty sengs are recalled by Mr. Herman Finck, the director of the famous Palace orchestra. "What is that tune, father?" is asked, and the old man beams as he answers. "Champagne Charlie," only in his turn to put a similar question to his son, as the orchestra glides into "Stop your ticklin' Jock," and bridges the

Mr. Herman Finck last month gave an Express representative his ideas as to the favourite tunes of the last half century. Here is Mr. Finck's list: -

Favourite air : Soldiers' Chorus from "Faust."

Sentimental song: "The Lost Chord." Comic cong: "Hi-tiddlev-hi-ti." Waltz: "The Blue Danube." "There is a multitude to choose from," said the popular conductor, "and it is possible that individual tastes will award the palms elsewhere in some cases, but that is my selection. "The comic song that has had the longest life is J. W. Rowley's 'Going to the Derby,' which was the rege many years ago; and Edwin Boyd, his son, often gives it to the public still as a welcome memory of the good old days. "These melcdies awaken such delightful recollection of the time when we were all young. You cannot hear the titles without arousing old and middle-aged 'boys' to enthusiasm.

"These are some of the early and mid-Victorian successes :-

"Not for Joe." "Slop bang! Here we are again!" "Going to the Derby,"

"Hop Light." "A Perfect Cure."

"Up in a balloon, boye,"

"Champagne Charlie."

"In her hair she wore a white camellis." "When the 'comics' were singing these the Soldiers' Chorus,' When other lips,' and Offenbach's 'L. Sabre' were delighting our mothers and grandmothers. "Then there was an intermediary periodwhen molodies like these were popular :-

"The Torpido and the Whale."
"Toreador's Song."

" All on account of Eliza." " From these we have descended through such favourites ss-

"Where did you get that hat?"

"Get your bair out!" "Ta-ra-ra boom-de-ay."

"Daisy Bell." "Dolly Gray."

"Let 'em all come."

SPECIALISTS SUALP USE AND RECOMMEND

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

"Ism sending you my photograph to show what Newbro's Herpiside bas done for me.

Since I first (ried Herpicide upon my hair I have used it exclusively in giving scalp treatments to others, and I would not think of trying to get along without it."

(Signed) MRS. ANNA CONNER. 2807 Archer Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Hundreds of lady scalp specialists and hair dressers use and recommend Nowbro's Herpicide, in tead of products of their own manufacture upon which a much larger profit could be made. They claim that Herpicide makes friends for them and gives much better satisfaction. Some hair dressers use Herpicide for obstinate cases only, but why not use the best first?

Herpicide is a delightful dressing that can be used when there is no disease of the scalp, and as an actual remedy for dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair it stands in a class singularly its own. Many ladies object to a gummy and sticky hair dressing, or one that is full of sedimentary chemicals intended to dye the bair. The marked preference for a clean and duinty preparation, particularly one that overcomes excessive oiliness and leaves the bair light and fluffy, is reflected in the enormous sale of Newbro's Herpicide. Discriminating Indies become enthusiastic over its refreshing quality and exquisite fragrance. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.
